

Adam Smith

Adam was raised in Boise before departing to pursue a BS in Business Management (Finance emphasis) at BYU and later a Master of Accountancy at Weber State. He spent 5 years in residential construction lending with Stock Building Supply before returning home to join Boise Cascade. His experience there includes time in internal audit, 7 years in the southeast US providing finance and accounting support to manufacturing operations, and most recently serving as the Controller for Boise Cascade Wood Products . He has a fondness for the housing industry and a keen interest in supporting affordable housing options for the community.